CHINA LEADS THE UN TO CHANGE ITS PROPAGANDA: THE ONLY IMPORTANT THING IS THE MACRO-STATE

In the October 12, 2021 UN news, it says: “inclusion is basic to resilience and sustainable peace, says Secretary-General”.

The UN kingpin says the problem is “inequality, exclusion and weak governance.”

Any Serious historian reports that inequality has been one of the drivers of progress in the West. It is clear that there is no competition without inequality and no personal effort if society prevents inequality. Indeed, there is not even equality face to the law in any country in the World.

Equality is part of the neocommunist indoctrination, although not even in a communist system there is equality, since there is only equality among the poor masses and in the communist administration there is a scale of command, where the higher up the better the live.

Equality implies a centralized control of human activity, including the economy, and, therefore the United Nations promotes neocommunism when it propagandizes equality.

Logically, the best way, from the perspective of institutional metamafia, to avoid “weak governance” is through totalitarian systems, such as Western democracies or China, which are the models advocated by the UN.

In this news item, it is said that the UN chief “He insisted on the determining role of inequality as the root of armed conflicts and added that although inequalities exist in all countries, they are especially rampant where there are no basic services such as health, education, security and justice, logically, this statement is related to “weak governance”.

The UN knows that there are no countries without such “basic services” and people would be surprised about the comparisons in areas such as judicial services which neocommunist propaganda calls “justice”.

In reality, the UN promotes the macro-State, the most destructive invention of mankind. It should be noted that until a few years ago, the UN propagandized for human rights, democracy and the rule of law. China despises these three basic pillars of Western propaganda and the UN has chosen to relegate them, focusing propaganda on different messages that have the common requirement of requiring a macro-State.

Another message of the UN macro-State propaganda –and of governments– is inclusion to avoid exclusion. Inclusion has several nuances. First, it refers to the so-called formal economy, that is, the one that declares and pays taxes, which is the basis of the macro-State and its corruption business. Subsidies are justified as a way to avoid exclusion, although the reality is that subsidies are part, mainly of social control, especially with basic income.

In 2018, the United Nations and the European Union made the greatest possible propaganda of the macro-State, publishing an estimate of the figures of corruption in the different geopolitical areas of major countries. Thus those who oppose the macro-State were informed that the macro-State is the best way to enrich themselves personally.

We live in a neocommunist World and the neocommunism of the macro-State has led us to decadence, destroying the whole society, culture, economy...

The solution goes through a #PostDemocracyEra
